Before Mr. Gladstone rose to move the third reading a few amendments were added to the bill at the instance of Mr. Morley. Chief Secretary for Ireland. After they had been disposed of without debate Mr. Gladstone rose amid a storm of cheers. He began his speech with reference to the criticisms made by Unionist lenders on the historical precedents he had cited on former occasions for Home Rule in Ireland. The Opposition, he said, had contended that in no other countries could analogies be found for changing the union between Great Britain and Ireland.

The premium on gold to arrive has virtually disappeared. Taken altogether, the situation shows a decided improvement. It is quite possible, however, that the preparations to meet the September interest and dividend disbursements may have the effect of temporarily stiffening the rates for money towards the end of
